

Saturday, November 4

Program of African Studies, Northwestern University

8:30 a.m. Continental breakfast

9 a.m. "Political and Economic Transitions: Priorities for Collaborative Action"

Richard Joseph, Northwestern University (chair)
Tim Shaw, Royal Roads University, Canada
Emmanuel Nnadozie, United Nations Economic Commission for Africa

11 a.m. "Strengthening Higher Education: The Next Steps"

Alexandra Gillies, Northwestern University and University of Cambridge (chair)
Abiola Odejide, University of Ibadan
Uche Isiugo-Abanihe, University of Ibadan
Layi Erinosh, Ogun State University
Haruna Wakili, Bayero University

12:30 p.m. Lunch

Acknowledgments

For their financial support of the conference, the Program of African Studies acknowledges with thanks the Offices of the President of Northwestern University, the Provost, and the Dean of the Kellogg School of Management; the Center for International and Comparative Studies at Northwestern; and the British Consulate-General in Chicago.

Additional support has come from grants to the Program of African Studies from the Carnegie Foundation, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, and the Netherlands Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

Program of African Studies

Northwestern University
620 Library Place
Evanston, Illinois 60208 U.S.A.
847-491-7323
847-491-3739 (fax)
african-studies@northwestern.edu
www.northwestern.edu/african-studies

Richard A. Joseph
Director

Adam Ashforth
Associate Director

Coura Badiane
Program and Outreach Coordinator

Nkem Dike
REACH Coordinator

Kate Dargis
Program Assistant

Carmelita Rocha
Business Administrator

Rebecca Sherekis
ISITA Coordinator

NORTHWESTERN
UNIVERSITY

©2006 Northwestern University.
All rights reserved.
Produced by University Relations.
10-06/RM-HC/10712

PAS INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

Nigeria 2007

Political, Social, and Economic Transitions

2-4 November 2006

Program of African Studies, Northwestern University
620 Library Place, Evanston, Illinois U.S.A.

"Nothing I have ever written will match the ongoing saga of Nigeria, absolutely nothing." — Wole Soyinka

The Program of African Studies at Northwestern University is pleased to present an international conference titled, "Nigeria 2007: Political, Social, and Economic Transitions," on November 2–4, 2006. Elections will be held in Nigeria in April 2007, when President Olusegun Obasanjo completes his second and final term in office. In view of the political vicissitudes of Nigeria throughout its postcolonial history, this is an important moment to reflect collectively on the major challenges and prospects.

In addition to drawing on a wide range of perspectives through the participation of scholars, activists, and policy makers from Nigerian, European, and North American institutions, the conference also addresses issues such as politics and literature, HIV/AIDS, Islam and the public sphere, the Niger Delta, poverty reduction, democratic institution building, and electoral politics. The Program of African Studies currently collaborates with Nigerian universities and research centers on several projects, such as the Research Alliance to Combat HIV/AIDS (REACH), the Institute for the Study of Islamic Thought in Africa (ISITA), and the Consortium for Development Partnerships (CDP).

Nigerian Nobel laureate Wole Soyinka is scheduled to deliver a public lecture, "Othello's Dominion, Immigrant Domain," at 5 p.m. on November 1 as part of Northwestern University's campus-wide Othello Project, organized by the Department of English.

Michael Frazier

Conference program

Wednesday, November 1

Harris Hall 107, Northwestern University

5 p.m. Othello Project public lecture by Wole Soyinka:
"Othello's Dominion, Immigrant Domain"

7 p.m. Reception

Thursday, November 2

Michigan Room, Norris University Center, Northwestern University

8:30 a.m. Continental breakfast

9 a.m. "Politics and Literature in Nigeria"
Wendy Griswold, Northwestern University (chair)
Wole Soyinka
Biodun Jeyifo, Harvard University
Abdul-Rasheed Na'Allah, Western Illinois University

10:30 a.m. Coffee break

11 a.m. "Nigerian Humanities: Responding to Conflict and Uncertainty"
Heidi Nast, DePaul University (chair)
Wendy Griswold, Northwestern University
Emmanuel Eze, DePaul University
Chika Okeke-Agulu, Pennsylvania State University

12:30 p.m. Lunch

1:30 pm "The Niger Delta Crisis"
William Reno, Northwestern University (chair)
Stephen Morrison, Center for Strategic and International Studies
Clement Adibe, DePaul University
Kathryn Nwajiaku, Oxford University

3:30 p.m. Coffee break

4 p.m. "Private-Sector Growth and Poverty Reduction"
Anthony Ikpi, University of Ibadan (chair)
Jide Nzelibe, Northwestern University School of Law
William Masters, Purdue University
Christian Ukaegbu, University of Wyoming
Timothy Williams, Commonwealth Secretariat

Friday, November 3

Hardin Hall, Rebecca Crown Center, Northwestern University

8:30 a.m. Continental breakfast

9 a.m. "HIV/AIDS in Nigeria: The Challenge of Prevention"
Adam Ashforth, Northwestern University (chair)
Layi Erinosh, Ogun State University
Uche Isiugo-Abanihe, University of Ibadan
Robert Murphy, Northwestern University
Phillip Nieburg, visiting scholar, REACH

10:30 a.m. Coffee break

11 a.m. "Islam and the Political Arena"
Souleymane Bachir Diagne, Northwestern University (chair)
Muhammad Sani Umar, director-designate, ISTIA
John Paden, George Mason University
Haruna Wakili, Bayero University

12:30 p.m. Lunch

1:30 p.m. "Democracy Building and the 2007 Elections"
Ndubisi Obiorah, Centre for Law and Social Action, (chair)
Darren Kew, University of Massachusetts Boston
Jibrin Ibrahim, Centre for Democracy and Development, Nigeria
Peter Lewis, Johns Hopkins University
Adaora Ikenze, Commonwealth Secretariat

3:30 p.m. Coffee break

4 p.m. Keynote address by Wole Soyinka:
"Democracy and the Nigerian Ambiguity"

5 p.m. Roundtable discussion
Henry Bienen, Northwestern University (moderator)
Ebere Ovwu diwe, Central State University
Layi Erinosh, Ogun State University
John Paden, George Mason University
M. Crawford Young, University of Wisconsin-Madison