Elephant and Piggie's "We are in a Play!"

Sat, July 30 and Aug 6, 11:00 AM and 2:00 PM

Sun, July 31 at 2:00 PM and Sun, Aug 7 at 2:00 PM and 5:00 PM

Thurs, Aug 4, 10 AM (special price: all seats $8)

Tickets $12 public, $10 children, $10 NU students

Get ready for a hilarious songfest ripped from the pages of Mo Willems's beloved, award-winning children's books that will leave audiences doing the "Flippy Floppy Floory" dance all night long! Elephant Gerald and Piggie are the best of friends. Worrisome and careful Gerald wonders if something could go wrong that would end their friendship. But playful and spirited Piggie is not worried at all, especially when she receives an invitation to a party hosted by the Squirrelles, three singing squirrels who love to have a good time. This production is recommended for ages 5 years old and older. The running time of this production is 60 minutes without intermission.

Exhibits and Theatre

Exhibits

Page and Stage: Shakespeare at Northwestern Libraries

Sat, April 23 to Fri, September 2, all day, free
University Library, 1970 Campus Dr, Evanston
Contact: Clare Roccaforte, croccaforte@northwestern.edu, 847-467-5918

William Shakespeare did not write from a lofty tower; his relatable themes, colorful characters, sharp satire, and bawdy jokes have always marked him a man of the people. Join Northwestern Libraries as we revel in our many holdings, from rare books to theatre archives to our general collection, that give students and faculty different ways to discover, learn from, and re-tell Shakespeare's tales.

Dawes Delivers the Vote: A Glimpse at Elections, 1896-1924

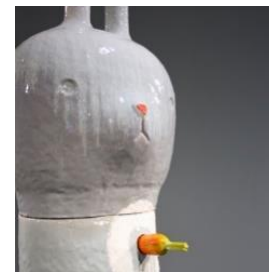

Mon, June 13 to Fri, Nov 11, all day, free

Landscape of Subjunctive: Taehoon Kim

Fri, June 24 – Fri, Aug 12, free
Dittmar Gallery, 1999 Campus Dr., Evanston
Taehoon Kim's work evokes a place between the subconscious and the evolution of substance. He uses materials that are modified and hybridized, as a metaphor for amorphous communication and the struggle for psychological interaction between space and colors. Also, his work attempts to reveal and develop a persuasive reflection on the essence of humanity and our relationships with other creatures.

Barber Theater, 20 Arts Circle Dr., Evanston

Contact: Wirtz Box office, wirtz@northwestern.edu, 847-491-7282

One of the funniest productions in NT Live history, featuring a Tony Award-winning performance from the host of the The Late Late Show, James Corden, the uproarious One Man, Two Guvnors was a runaway hit both in London's West End and on Broadway. Fired from his skiffle band, Francis Henshall becomes minder to Roscoe Crabbe, a small time East End hood, now in Brighton to collect £6,000 from his fiancée's dad. But Roscoe is really his sister Rachel posing as her own dead brother, who's been killed by her boyfriend Stanley Stubbers. Holed up at The Cricketers' Arms, the permanently ravenous Francis spots the chance of an extra meal ticket and takes a second job with one Stanley Stubbers, who is hiding from the police and waiting to be re-united with Rachel. To prevent discovery, Francis must keep his two guvnors apart. Simple.

Participants must be able to pass a swimming test the first day of class. Fees include books and equipment. $249 Northwestern student, $274 member, $299 non-member.

- Sundays, Jan 15 – Feb 26, 2017: 5:00 – 10:00 PM

Private or semi-private instruction is also available. The aquatics program also offers CPR/AED with First Aid certification, though none are scheduled for June.

Beach Access

As North Beach is closed for the summer due to construction, NU Recreation is excited to share the opportunity for limited free access for NU students and recreation members to utilize the Clark Street Beach. To take advantage of free beach access, students and recreation members will need to pick up daily passes at the Northwestern Sailing Center (1823 Campus Drive, located adjacent to the Clark Street Beach) or the Recreation Membership Office (Henry Crown Sports Pavilion, 2311 Campus Drive). A limited number of daily passes will be available beginning June 15 and will only be available while supplies last. Passes will be distributed on a first-come, first-served basis and only one free pass will be distributed per student or member per day. NU students and members will have to show their Northwestern Wildcard ID or Recreation Member Card to receive a free daily pass.

Lectures in the Humanities, Social Sciences, and Sciences

Institute of Education Sciences (IES) and National Center for Education Research (NCER) Workshop on Quasi-Experimental Design and Analysis

Mon, Aug 1, 9:00 AM – 5:00 PM

Hilton Garden Inn, 1818 Maple Ave., Evanston

Contact: Patricia Reese, p-reese@northwestern.edu, 847-491-8712

Organized by Thomas D. Cook, Professor of Sociology, Psychology, and Education and Social Policy, these workshops guide practitioners and researchers in how to improve the quality of quasi-experiments in education research when random assignment is not possible.

Point-of-Care Diagnostic Device Development for Tuberculosis in South Africa: Sally McFall (Northwestern) and Mark Fisher (Northwestern)

Wed, Aug 3, 1:00 – 2:00 PM

645 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 1058, Chicago

Contact: Adela Mizrahi, a-mizrachi@northwestern.edu, 312-503-9000

Sally McFall and Mark Fisher from the McCormick School of Engineering's Center for Innovation in Global Health Technologies present their research on point-of-care diagnostic device development for tuberculosis in South Africa.

Spine Surgery Indications and Outcomes Conference

Thurs, Aug 4, 6:15 – 7:00 AM

259 E. Erie, 13 Floor, Workroom B, Chicago

Contact: Alpesh Patel, alpesh.patel@nmff.org

This conference is based on real time, prospective peer review of spine surgical care at Northwestern Medicine. Surgical plans and diagnostic imaging are evaluated and recent surgical outcomes are reviewed.

Children with High Resource Use – Trends and Policy Implications: Rishi Agrawal, MD (Northwestern)

Fri, Aug 5, 8:00 – 9:00 AM

Lurie Children's Hospital 11th floor, 225 E. Chicago Ave., Chicago

Contact: Brian Von Rueden, bvonrueden@luriechildrens.org, 312-227-4342

Pediatrics grand rounds are held every Friday morning. Rishi Agrawal, MD presents his research on innovations in pediatric specialty care that have extended the lives of children with complex medical needs and technology dependence.

Glioma Stem Cells (GSCs) – Molecular Signaling and Therapeutic Targeting: Shideng Bao (Learner Research Institute, Cleveland Clinic)

Fri, Aug 5, 11:00 AM – 12:00 PM

Lurie Medical Research Center, Baldwin Auditorium, 303 E. Superior, Chicago

Contact: Alexa Ann Nash, alexa.nash@northwestern.edu, 312-503-4893

Glioblastoma (GBM) is the most lethal and common type of primary brain tumor. GBM displays striking cellular hierarchy containing glioma stem cells (GSCs). GSCs are functionally defined by extensive self-renewal, multi-lineage potency and potent tumor propagation. As GSCs promote tumor angiogenesis including vascular pericyte formation, cancer invasion, therapeutic resistance and tumor recurrence, therapeutic targeting of GSCs may significantly improve GBM treatment. We have identified several key signaling regulators that control the self-renewal and tumorigenic potential of GSCs. Molecular targeting of GSCs through functional inhibition of the newly identified targets in preclinical studies will be discussed. The presentation will be by faculty candidate Shideng Bao of the Cleveland Clinic.

Chicago Communicating Science Conference Keynote: Emily Graslie (host of YouTube Channel “The Brain Scoop”)

Sat, Aug 6, 3:30 – 4:30 PM

Lurie Medical Research Center, Hughes Auditorium, 303 E. Superior, Chicago

Contact: Communication Science Convention, comscion.chicago@gmail.com

Emily Graslie is the host of the educational YouTube channel “The Brain Scoop,” acquired by The Field Museum in 2013, which delves into the intricacies of natural history collections like deep-sea octopus reproduction to the age of the universe. Graslie talks about her content and delivery strategy in delivering scientific research to the public. Supported by Northwestern University and The University of Chicago.

Oxygen Sensing and Stem Cells in the Arterial Chemoreceptors: Jose Lopez Barneo (University of Seville Medical School)

Tues, Aug 9, 12:00 – 1:00 PM

Ward Building, 5-230, 303 E. Chicago Ave., Chicago

Contact: Donna Daviston, d-daviston@northwestern.edu, 312-503-1687

Dr. Jose Lopez Barneo from the University of Seville Medical School specializes in research on the cellular mechanisms of oxygen sensing, neurodegeneration and neuroprotection in Parkinson's disease, and pathophysiological mechanisms of hypertension and vascular spasm.

Lecture on Central Nervous System Diseases: John Flaherty, MD (Northwestern)

Tues, Aug 9, 12:00 – 1:00 PM

645 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 900, Chicago

Contact: Marla Rachel Block, marla.block@northwestern.edu, 312-695-5090

John Flaherty specializes in HIV infection, orthopedic-related infections, and travel-related infections. He is a professor in infectious diseases at Northwestern.

Genetic Counseling Informational Workshop

Fri, Aug 12, 9:00 AM – 4:00 PM, free

Lurie Medical Research Center, Baldwin Auditorium, 303 E. Superior, Chicago

Contact: Christin Hoell, christin.hoell@northwestern.edu, 312-695-0707

The Genetic Task Force of Illinois and the Northwestern University Graduate Program in Genetic Counseling are hosting a one-day free workshop for students, faculty, advisors, and anyone else who would like to learn more about the field of genetic counseling and provide information about the master's program.

Adventures in Liberia: Initiating a Medical Rotation and Research Agenda: Adam Murphy (Northwestern)

One Book, One Northwestern

We think we want information when we really want knowledge.
The signal is the truth. The noise is what distracts us from the truth.

Nate Silver, The Signal and the Noise (2015)

One Book, One Northwestern is a community-wide reading program hosted by the Office of the President to engage the campus in a common conversation on a carefully chosen, thought-provoking book.

The 2016-17 One Book One Northwestern choice is Nate Silver's The Signal and the Noise. Silver, the founder and editor-in-chief of FiveThirtyEight.com, will deliver a keynote address at Northwestern on Thurs, October 6, shortly before the 2016 presidential election. It is a natural choice for Northwestern given the school's investments in interdisciplinary work, data science, and quantitative analysis.

This entertaining, elegant book on statistics and forecasting makes the world of data science accessible and it is a reminder that statistics are only as good as the people who wield them. Silver breezily investigates how predictions are made in a wide range of fields, including chess, baseball, and politics. He offers hopeful examples but weighs the process against a series of predicable catastrophes, such as the September 11 attacks or the earthquake in Fukushima, Japan.

Events related to The Signal and the Noise will start in September 2016. For more information, please contact Nancy Cunniff at onebook@northwestern.edu or 847-467-2294.

Nate Silver, The Signal and the Noise: One Book, One Northwestern Keynote Address

Thurs, Oct 6, 4:30 PM (doors open at 4:00 PM), tickets are free and available at the Norris box office starting Sept 29

Pick Staiger, 50 Arts Circle Dr., Evanston

Contact: Nancy Cunniff, onebook@northwestern.edu, 847-467-2294

Author Nate Silver will deliver the keynote address to the 2016-2017 One Book One Northwestern program. There will be a book signing in the lobby following the talk.

Professional Development

Northwestern offers mini courses to help staff, faculty, and the community develop skills, further their careers, and grow personally. Courses are generally half or full days. Topics include programs like Excel and Photoshop, leadership and managerial development, and training on Northwestern systems.

To enroll in a course (unless otherwise noted), go to www.northwestern.edu/hr/workplace-learning/ or call Workplace Learning at 847-467-5081.
