

GLOBAL HEALTH STUDIES

2018-2019 HIGHLIGHTS

BY THE NUMBERS:

824

GHS alums engaged with the world

600+

students enrolled in GHS classes

4

Institute for Global Health development events co-hosted (London, NYC, Chicago, and Sacramento)

84

participants on specially-designed, Northwestern public health programs in Bosnia-Herzegovina, China, France, Mexico, Serbia, and South Africa

29

different global health classes taught on-campus and abroad

16

alums participated in our Public Health Mentorship Program

PROGRAM NEWS

- Dr. Sera Young awarded a Carnegie Fellowship for her project A New Way to Think About Water: Household Water Insecurity
- Dr. Noelle Sullivan selected as Kaplan Fellow for her project Consuming the Hospital: International Volun-tourism in Tanzanian Health Facilities
- Dr. Beatriz Reyes, a public and Native American health scholar, joined the GHS faculty
- Co-hosted Consortium of Universities for Global Health national conference in Chicago and presented Building an Integrative Undergraduate Program in Global Health Studies: Insights from Northwestern's Experience
- 1st cohort of Accelerated Public Health Program (5-year, BA/MPH) graduated

Campaign for the Institute for Global Health Goes to London
GHS Prof. Sarah Rodriguez, FSM Prof. Mark Huffman, Kellogg student Deepika Ranjan and FSM student Victor Roy presented