Monographs and Collected Studies

Dissertations & Theses

Arneson, E. E. (2011). The self-perceived effects on faculty that result from the experience of serving in a residential college (Doctoral dissertation). Florida International University, Miami, FL.

Early, S. L. (2014). An examination of mentoring relationships and leadership capacity in resident assistants (Doctoral dissertation). Bowling Green State University, Bowling Green, OH.

O ‘Connor, J. S. (2012). Factors that support or inhibit academic affairs and student affairs from working collaboratively to better support holistic students’ experiences: A phenomenological study (Doctoral dissertation). Drexel University, Philadelphia, PA.

Sullivan, T. C. (2013). Place of residence: Understanding the impact on interactions and relationships with peers, faculty, and diverse others among senior students (Doctoral dissertation). University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, MI.

Thomas, I. J. (2009). The role of demographic, pre-college, and involvement factors on postsecondary academic performance of first-generation college students: Findings from a national study (Master’s Thesis). University of Maryland, College Park, MD.

Whitely, P. (1994). Expectations, experiences and satisfaction by students, staff and faculty within residential colleges at the University of Miami (Doctoral dissertation). University of Miami, Miami, FL.
Journal Articles & Conference Proceedings

Clopton, A. W., & Finch, B. L. Re-conceptualizing social anchors in community development: Utilizing social anchor theory to create social capital’s third dimension. Community Development, 42(1), 70-83.

Haynes, C., & Janosik, S. M. (2012). Faculty and staff member benefits from involvement in living-learning programs. Journal of College and University Student Housing, 38(2), 32–45.

Inkelas, K. K., Johnson, D., Lee, Z., Daver, Z., Longerbeam, S. D., Vogt, K., & Leonard, J. B. (2006). The role of living-learning programs in students’ perceptions of intellectual growth at three large universities. Journal of Student Affairs Research and Practice, 43(1), 115–143.

Northwestern University
Undergraduate Residential Experience Committee, Working Bibliography

News Articles & Op-Eds

Northwestern University Reports

Elder Residential Community First Year Assessment Results. (2011)

Residential Communities Second Year Assessment Results. (2012)

Other University Reports

Inkelas, K. K. (1999). A Tide on Which All Boats Rise: The Effects of Living-Learning Program Participation on Undergraduate Outcomes at UM.

Organization Reports

Asset Based Community Development Institute at Northwestern University. What is Asset Based Community Development? Evanston, IL.

Association of College and University Housing Officers-International. (2015). ACUHO-I Strategic Plan. Columbus, OH.

