A 50-minute roundtable discussion topic related to questions and issues in the assessment of student learning. These provide an opportunity for various kinds of interactions in a smaller group setting (10-15 people), such as discussion of a concept, approach, program, issue, case study, or reading. This format is ideal for connecting with others who may be experiencing similar challenges or issues and would like to share practices and ideas.

When you open the proposal submission survey, you will be asked to answer the questions that appear below.

The Learning, Teaching, and Assessment Forum is an annual event sponsored by the Office of the Provost, in collaboration with the University Assessment Council. This year's theme is Examining the Evidence of Student Learning.

This university-wide event is designed to:

- Provide faculty, doctoral students, postdocs, administrators, and staff the opportunity to showcase their assessment initiatives at the course, department/program, school, and/or university levels.
- Share teaching, learning, and assessment innovations, strategies, practices, and outcomes.
- Demonstrate the University’s assessment framework in practice.
- Promote dialogue about assessment, its purpose and value for improving learning & teaching.

1. Title of Presentation

2. Presenter #1 (Please only list the presenters here; you will have an opportunity to list other colleagues involved in question 4).
   Name: ________________
   Title: ________________
   Department School: ________________
   Unit Email Address: ________________
   Phone Number: ________________

A 50-minute roundtable
3. Presenter #2 (Please only list the presenters here)
   Name: ________________
   Title: ________________
   Department School: ________________
   Unit Email Address: ________________
   Phone Number: ________________

4. If any other colleagues are involved as authors or presenters, please list them here.

Roundtable discussion:

1. Rationale: Describe the discussion topic and its relevance to assessment. Share a summary of the variety of perspectives surrounding this topic.

2. Discussion goals: Describe the kinds of questions you will pose to stimulate discussion, and describe what the participants will take away from the session.

3. Discussion moderator/facilitator: Will you be the person facilitating this discussion?
   - ○ Yes
   - ○ No

4. If your answer to question 3 is no, who will be facilitating the discussion? Describe any relevant experience this person has in a) facilitation, and b) with the discussion topic.

   _______________________________________

Proposals must be submitted electronically:

Click here to complete the submission survey.