Sexual Assault Awareness Month

Events & Programming

TAKE BACK THE NIGHT BANNER MAKING
April 21 • 4:00 - 7:00 p.m. • Searle 3.220
Join CARE staff in making banners for tonight's Take Back the Night march! Some supplies will be provided, but feel free to bring your own supplies, creativity, and energy.

TAKE BACK THE NIGHT
April 21 • 6:00 p.m. • The Rock, Dittmar Gallery
March through campus in support of survivors. The march will begin around 6:00 p.m at The Rock and concludes with a speak-out in the Dittmar Gallery in the Norris Center around 7:00 p.m. CARE advocates will be present at the speak-out for support.

TITLE IX PROCESS PANEL
April 28 • 5:00 - 6:00 p.m. • Norris Wildcat Room B
What does it really mean to make a Title IX report? Whatever happened to SAHAS, and how is UHAS different? What rights do survivors of sexual violence at Northwestern have? Does someone know if there is a report filed against them? Join Northwestern’s own Title IX experts for a panel discussion about what Title IX reporting looks like at Northwestern and how they work to support students through the process of reporting. Come with questions and leave with a clearer vision of Northwestern’s Title IX reporting process and the people involved. This event is co-sponsored by the Sexual Harassment Prevention Office.

SUPPORT STARTS HERE
April 6 • 10:00 a.m. - 12:00 p.m. • Norris Rock Room
Support Starts Here gives participants the skills to effectively support a survivor of sexual violence, relationship violence, or stalking. The training will help create a community that can listen to, support, and refer survivors in meaningful ways. This two hour training will provides you space to examine personal roles in supporting survivors, build skills to respond to disclosure, and connect with resources on and off campus. Send an email to care@northwestern.edu to RSVP.

THE HUNTING GROUND SCREENING
April 6 • 7:00 p.m. • Fisk 217
If you didn’t catch it last year, join Center for Awareness, Response & Education (CARE) for a screening of The Hunting Ground followed by a discussion with CARE staff. The Hunting Ground was released in 2015 and follows the stories of multiple survivors of sexual assault on college campuses and the challenges they met on their respective campuses. This film was pivotal; leading to increased Title IX activism across the country.

CLOTHESLINE PROJECT CRAFTING
April 7 • 4:00 - 6:00 p.m. • Searle 3.226
April 8 • 4:00 - 6:00 p.m. • Searle 3.220
The Clothesline Project began in 1990 as an opportunity for survivors and allies to bring public testimony to their experiences. Everyone is invited to join us these two afternoons to join in this powerful Sexual Assault Awareness Month (SAAM) tradition of decorating shirts expressing emotions to be publically displayed at the Survivor Art Exhibit and Celebration on April 12. CARE will provide crafting supplies, though anyone is welcome to bring their own.

STEP UP! TRAINING
April 12 • 2:00 - 4:00 p.m. • Norris Armadillo Room
Step Up is a bystander intervention training program that aims to create a more engaged Northwestern community by providing students, faculty, and staff with the basic tools to safely and effectively intervene in situations where someone might be in danger. Participants in this training leave with an understanding of the barriers to intervention and the strategies to intervene. Send an email to care@northwestern.edu to RSVP.

SURVIVOR ART EXHIBIT AND CELEBRATION
April 12 • 4:00 - 7:00 p.m. • Norris Wildcat Room
Join community and campus partners as they come together in support and celebration of survivors. Survivor and anti-sexual violence art from Northwestern’s campus and the Evanston and Chicago communities will be displayed, including SPEAK for Change’s Unity Project and The Clothesline Project. Stop by to show support, meet our partners, and have a snack; art donations are welcome. This event is co-sponsored by the Women’s Center.
