Program Information

Paris 3

Founded in 1970, the Université Sorbonne Nouvelle – Paris 3 evolved from the former Faculty of Arts of the University of Paris and is now a leading French institution in the arts and humanities. With approximately 400 international agreements, the Sorbonne Nouvelle has a strong commitment to international cooperation, with almost 1,500 incoming and outgoing exchange students per year.

Program Team

There are a number of different partners and players that make important contributions to your academic, cultural, and personal experience abroad.

At Northwestern, the team in the Global Learning Office (GLO) is available to support you before, during, and after your study abroad experience. GLO plays the following roles:

- Liaison with Host University: GLO works with the international office at your host university to pave the way for you to be successful. GLO collaborates with your host university to facilitate your nomination and application processes and to provide ongoing support.
- Pre-Departure Orientation and Materials: GLO provides you with important information about your program to help you prepare for your experience. This includes resources, such as this program handbook as well as online modules and in-person meetings related to health and safety, budgeting, travel, and academics.
- Course Registration: GLO will register students at Northwestern for the appropriate study abroad course(s) for their program; you will not register yourself for any Northwestern courses during your term(s) abroad.
- Academic Credit: GLO will collect and submit your transcript to the Registrar's Office, which will post general study abroad credits.
- In-Country Support: Faculty and staff at your host university will provide support for you while abroad and should be your primary resource, but if you need additional assistance or would feel more comfortable speaking to GLO staff, please do not hesitate to contact your GLO adviser (see below).
- Re-Integration Support: Upon your return, GLO will provide you with resources to help transition back into campus life at Northwestern, as well as connect you to other study abroad returnees and program alumni.

Karey Fuhs

Senior Associate Director, Global Learning Office (GLO)

Originally from Michigan, Karey graduated with a BA in Environmental Science from Northwestern University and an MA in International Educational Development from Teachers College, Columbia University. Inspired by her study abroad experiences in Chile and Ecuador while an undergraduate, Karey returned to Ecuador after graduation, where she worked for SIT Study Abroad for several years. She also worked at the Chazen Institute for International Business at Columbia Business School, Social Justice Initiatives at Columbia

Law School, and the Cloud Institute of Sustainability Education before returning to Northwestern in 2010. She has been overseeing GLO’s various study abroad programs since then.

Karey is your GLO Adviser and primary point of contact for any questions you may have about your program, academics, preparing for study abroad, health and safety, or any other exchange-related matters, particularly before your departure or after your return.

International Affairs Office, Paris 3

The staff in the International Affairs Office at Paris 3 can provide you with information, support, and connections to student life. Your primary contacts are Ms. Lou Courjan-Kompf and Mrs. Laurie Tieu-Guyot, reachable at mobilite.internationale@sorbonne-nouvelle.fr.

Isabelle Alfandary, Professor of English Literature at Paris 3, is available as a resource and academic liaison for Northwestern students at Paris 3. You can contact her at: isabelle.alfandary@gmail.com.

Program Schedule

It is expected that all students studying at the Sorbonne Nouvelle arrive in Paris in time to participate in orientation programming and then depart after exams have completed.

The schedule of the 2019 welcome program for exchange students and university calendar for 2019-2020 were not available at the time this guide was printed, but you can anticipate that your program will run from early September to mid-December. Anticipated program dates are September 1, 2019 (when orientation begins) to December 19, 2019 (when exams end for Fall Semester).

Some information about the 2018 welcome program can be found on the Paris 3 website:

- Information: <http://www.univ-paris3.fr/demarches-pendant-votre-mobilite-a-paris-3-36143.kjsp?RH=1209061830093>
- PPT: www.univ-paris3.fr/medias/fichier/bienvenue-a-la-sorbonne-nouvelle-paris-3-2018-2019-s2_1551711745665.pdf?INLINE=FALSE

Academics

Refer to the Academic Planning section of the GLO website for more information about academic information, expectations, and policies:

<https://www.northwestern.edu/abroad/study-abroad/academic-planning/index.html>

In addition to familiarizing yourself with the information below, it is important that you take some time to learn about the academic culture of your host university. Speak with past Northwestern students who have studied at your host university, as well as exchange students from your host university who are currently studying at Northwestern.

Choosing Courses, Registration, and Enrollment Requirements

For the term(s) that you will be abroad, you will be enrolled at Northwestern in a placeholder course, which corresponds to your program. GLO will register you for your study abroad course(s), so please do not register yourself for any classes.

At Paris 3, course registration for undergraduate exchange students does not happen until arrival. Information about course registration will be provided during the exchange student orientation, but this section provides some additional information and guidance about choosing courses, registration at Paris 3, and other planning steps.

1. To maintain full-time enrollment at Northwestern while you are at Paris 3, you must receive the minimum number of credits listed in the table below. However, you are encouraged to attempt more credits, in case you do not end up earning a C grade in one or more courses, and those credits are not transferrable back to Northwestern. (Refer to #4-6 below.)

Term	Minimum Credit Requirement	Recommended # of Credits
Fall	12 ECTS	20-30 ECTS
Winter/Spring	22 ECTS	30 ECTS
Full Year	36 ECTS (18 per term)	50-60CTS (25-30 per term)

2. Although you provided a preliminary course plan in your Northwestern application, you should review the course offerings and prepare a list of preferred and backup courses: <http://www.univ-paris3.fr/l-offre-de-formation-de-l-universite-sorbonne-nouvelle-paris-3-64065.kjsp?RH=1209061830093>. Focus on courses offered in in the Fall and consider a combination of courses in levels 1, 2, and 3, in French and in English. (In other words, combine courses offered in S1, S3, and S5 of the license degree.) Again, you are expected to enroll in the total number of credits outlined in #1 above. How many courses you end up taking will depend on the number of ECTS credits that each course is worth.
3. Language Requirement: You are required to enroll in at least one French course. You are strongly encouraged to take part in the French language courses offered to exchange students: <http://www.univ-paris3.fr/cours-de-francais-et-certifications-delf-dalf-a-la-sorbonne-nouvelle-13348.kjsp?RH=1209061830093>. You may also consider taking a combination of courses in French and English. All courses offered in the English Department are taught in English.
4. You must take all courses for a grade at Paris 3, and course credit will only be transferable back to Northwestern if you earn a grade of 10 or above (out of 20), which is equivalent to a C grade.
5. Attendance in class is mandatory, and if you miss more than two classes, you will receive a “default” on your transcript and no credit.
6. Add/Drop Policy: After the registration period closes, your ability to add and drop classes will be restricted. You will have the opportunity to try out your classes and make adjustments if the classes are too difficult or too easy. If you have trouble making registration changes, contact the International Affairs Office. Although you have a window to shop for classes, you are encouraged to research class options – including speaking with past students about their course recommendations – prior to enrolling.

For more information about enrollment requirements and credit conversion, visit the GLO website: <https://www.northwestern.edu/abroad/study-abroad/academic-planning/registration-credit/exchange-credit-transfer.html>.

Transcripts and Credit

Following completion of your program, you will be issued a transcript from Paris 3, and eligible course credit will be transferred to Northwestern, as long as students follow all rules regarding course transferability and earn course grades of C (or equivalent in the local grading system) or above. For more information about credit transfer, visit these sections of the GLO website:

- Transfer Credit Rules: <https://www.northwestern.edu/abroad/study-abroad/academic-planning/choosing-courses.html>
- Transfer Credit Process: <https://www.northwestern.edu/abroad/study-abroad/return-home/credit-transfer/index.html>

Also be aware of the following:

- Paris 3 transcripts can take a long time to be issued. You do not need to take any action to request your Paris 3 transcript; it will be delivered to GLO automatically. However, transcripts typically do not arrive until the end of Winter Quarter.

Accommodations

As a reminder, students participating in exchange programs in France are responsible for making their own housing arrangements. Be advised that proof of accommodations is required as part of the French visa application process. You are encouraged to begin looking into housing options early.

Finding accommodations in Paris will depend largely upon your goals and your budget, and there are wide variety of housing options in Paris, with varying degrees of comfort, commuting times, and prices.

GLO has compiled a brief housing guide with some information and tips from past students: <https://northwestern.box.com/s/3scyt68vks3of1cdeq423buartepca1f>.

You are also strongly encouraged to contact past students directly for resources: <https://www.northwestern.edu/abroad/student-experiences/connect-with-students/index.html>.

France

French history and culture are both rich and complex. We provide some basic information below, but we encourage you to do some research about the history of your host country as well as general country information, including the political system, geography, the economy, population, culture, and current events. Your ability to take full advantage of your time abroad will be influenced by the amount of preparation and research you do before you go, so read as much as you can! Refer to the list of resources in the Links & Recommended Reading section.

Fast Facts¹

- Surface Area: 643,801 sq km (slightly less than the size of Texas)
- Population: 67,364,357 (July 2018 est.)
- Government type: semi-presidential republic
- GDP per capita: $44,100 (2017 est.)
- Major industries: machinery, chemicals, automobiles, metallurgy, aircraft, electronics; textiles, food processing; tourism

Population²

France has an estimated population of over 67 million. Paris is the largest city in France in terms of metropolitan area population. The 1789 revolution set the precedent that it was illegal for the French state to collect data on ethnicity and race, and this was reaffirmed in the constitution of 1958. Therefore, official statistics on demographic data based on race and ethnicity is not available.

Language

French is France's official language. Interestingly, France has an official authority on the usages, vocabulary and grammar of the French language, called the Académie Française, though its recommendations carry no legal power. You will find that many people, particularly in stores and restaurants, are able to communicate in English as well. (For some useful tips and phrases, see Appendix I.)

Transportation

There are many modes of transportation in Paris, some of which are safer and more reliable than others. Below is some basic information about how to get around, but also refer to the Health, Safety, and Security sections of this Program Handbook for tips about safe travel.

- Foot: First and foremost, Paris is a walking city. This is often the fastest, most convenient, and most beautiful method of transportation. Paris 3 is in the famous Latin Quarter. It is safe to walk in Paris during the day, but be more cautious at night, especially in certain neighborhoods. It is always advisable to avoid walking alone at night.

- Metro: The Metro in Paris is fast, safe, and reliable. The time between stations is about 1 minute, and trains come about every 3-5 minutes during peak hours. Note: The Metro only runs until 12:40am on weekdays and until 1:40am on the weekends.
Budgeting Tip: It is common for students to purchase a monthly Metro (Navigo) pass. This pass costs between 60 and 80 euros, depending on which part of Paris you live in, and can be purchased in most Metro stations. This is about the same as the cost of a monthly CTA pass, but the Metro is much more efficient and convenient than the 'El.'
- Bike: Paris's very successful bike-share program, known as the Vélib, changed operators in 2018. The rollout was riddled with problems, and ridership plummeted. There are now a few different bike-sharing programs, but since the bike-sharing industry has been in flux in many major cities, including Paris, you are encouraged to tread carefully. Also be sure to review the fine print of any agreements, as fees can be hefty.
- Taxi/Uber: Taxis are abundant in Paris. While they may be difficult to hail, there are convenient taxi stands located every few blocks on major streets. Taxis are not too expensive, but prices can change depending on the hour or even the driver. Try to use as much French as possible to get a fair rate, or share rides with friends. Uber also operates in Paris.

Getting To/From the Airport

You are responsible for getting yourself from the airport to your housing in Paris.

GLO strongly recommends that you take a taxi or airport shuttle from the airport directly to your accommodations in Paris, rather than trying to navigate the RER train/metro with your luggage. A taxi is the quickest and easiest - but most expensive - option, as taxis from Charles de Gaulle (CDG) to the city center cost about 50-70 euros. You can also arrange for a shuttle transfer; this option may take a bit longer, but it will also take you directly to the hostel and will be less expensive than a taxi. Possible shuttle services include:

- Super Shuttle: <https://www.supershuttle.com/locations/paris-bva-ory-cdg/>
- Airport-Shuttle.com: <http://www.airport-shuttle.com/>

Be very careful with your belongings at the airport and when boarding a taxi or shuttle. Make sure your bags are in your possession at all times.

Visas

As a reminder, you will need a long stay student visa in order to study in France. This visa has a two-part application process, which is outlined in detail in the Visa Guide(s) already distributed. The process can take up to two months, so we encourage you to complete the visa application process before leaving campus.

Money Matters

Refer to Appendix II for cost information for your program. Also reference the Money Matters section of the GLO website and the relevant modules in Canvas for information about billing, financial aid, and budgeting: <https://www.northwestern.edu/abroad/money-matters/index.html>. If you have any questions about billing, financial aid, or scholarships, email Krista Bethel in Undergraduate Financial Aid at krista@northwestern.edu.

Identity Abroad

The sections below provide some basic information, summarized from the Diversity Network Country Diversity Climate Notes for France³, and reflections from past students about the cultural climate of France. Also reference the Identity Abroad pages on the Global Learning website: <https://www.northwestern.edu/abroad/student-experiences/identity-diversity/index.html>.

Cultural Adjustment: Reflections from Past Students

Pre-Departure

- “French stereotypes abound in the United States. I suggest avoiding cliché YouTube videos about Paris and what Parisians are like. Remember that you have a responsibility to showcase the best of your home university’s students, so make sure to avoid asking intrusive or impolite questions. I recommend asking your orientation leader questions about the university you’re going to be attending, as well as what the students are like.”
- “Watching films really helped me. I tried to watch as many french new wave films and get a strong background in that. It helped that I followed the presidential elections in the country that took place just before i got there, but that is hard to replicate on yearly basis i think. Reading newspapers in French or just following French news in English through the BBC or other sources are very useful.”
- “...read le monde, and understand French politics. Take classes.”

While abroad:

- “This has been said before and will be said again, but don't get overwhelmed by Paris! Know that you don't HAVE to go to every famous place, even if people pressure you. I know that I didn't see everything, but I feel like the famous monuments and museums I saw were only half of what made my experience so enjoyable. It is the places that you find on your own or with friends that are the most culturally stimulating and exciting anyway.”
- “This was my first time living in a major city, commuting by the metro, and speaking a different language constantly. All these things require adjustment.”
- “You won't regret going out or going to some new Parisian neighborhood instead of just going home after class. It's important to stay healthy and rested, but take advantage of the downtime!”
- “Culture-wise, be open-minded about your experiences. I realized how U.S/America-centered my education has been and it was good to expand my horizons and learn about a different culture and society.”
- “I dressed differently, acted more reserved walking and traveling through the city, [and] ate a different diet.”
- “I think I began to smile less and be so expressive. I began to notice more things too though. I learned to be more observant and curious.”
- “I would go to popular locations in the area and sit and observe how the French behave and interact with one another.”
- “...go to markets, and involve yourself in student groups or take an art studio.”

Gender Roles & Identity

Female students traveling to France can expect a level of protection and respect equivalent to what they experience in the United States. However, it is still important that all students – regardless of gender – follow the guidelines and precautions outlined in the Gender and Health & Safety sections of the Global Learning website, as well as the pre-departure modules in Canvas related to gender, sexuality, sexual health, and sexual violence response.

Gender Identity: Reflections from Past Students

- “I was not prepared for the aggressive way men approach women in France, so that was a big adjustment that we had to deal with on a consistent basis while being there.”
- “I wasn't prepared for the amount of sexual harassment that I experienced in Paris.”
- “I experienced very little harassment (as I am a woman.) I felt very safe.”
- “Just as a woman studying abroad, I recommend seeking out information about how to protect yourself in Paris.”

Race and Ethnicity

Although Paris is an ethnically diverse city, French national identity is based on its Gallic heritage. According to the same 2015 Eurobarometer, 82 percent of respondents believed discrimination based on ethnic origin to be widespread in France⁴. Students of color may find France to be less prejudiced, in general, than many parts of the U.S., but others may experience individuals with significant ignorance of racial and ethnic diversity. Resource:

- Mouvement Contre le Racisme et pour l'Amitié entre les Peuples: www.mrap.fr

Race & Ethnicity: Reflections from Past Students

- “One of my biggest challenges was the racism I experienced both walking on the streets of Paris and in my homestay... Race and ethnicity are regarded very differently in France. The French promote social solidarity and no differentiation and don't even have censuses. However, this thinly disguises the racial tensions that occur and it's important to be aware of that, especially as a POC...If you're a POC, be aware that perspectives on race and ethnicity are much different in France. Although some people may not realize the significance of their words, they may still be saying things that do not run well with you.”
- “The French talk about race in a manner very different than in the United States, and it might be perceived as insensitive by some. I had some difficulties with that.”
- “Be mindful that if you are not Caucasian, people might ask you where you are from and probe you about your ethnic origin. Most don't mean to be racist or ignorant, they're simply curious.”
- “I never felt less aware of my racial (Indian) identity than I did in France. I felt acutely AMERICAN, but rarely felt aware of my ethnic background...I experienced no racial microaggressions/discrimination. That being said, the discourse and language around race is very different, and might come across as offensive.”
- “They don't really understand divorces or mixed race or ethnically ambiguous people and will often outright ask about your parentage, so be prepared to repeat it many times.”
- “Most Parisians are very open-minded and welcoming. During my travels though, I did experience some harassment for being Asian/woman. Just be smart and safe.”
- “French people have a different way of speaking about race than Americans, and discrimination/racism exists outside the U.S. But you should keep in mind that not all the questions French people ask about race are meant to be offensive; they just have a different understanding of race and ethnicity.”

⁴<http://ec.europa.eu/COMMFrontOffice/publicopinion/index.cfm/Survey/getSurveyDetail/instruments/SPECIAL/surveyKy/2077>

Sexual Orientation and Identity

According to a 2015 Eurobarometer, 72 percent of respondents believed discrimination based on sexual orientation to be widespread in France⁵. In general, however, French society is highly tolerant and upholds LGBTIA rights. It has recognized same-sex civil unions since 1999. Laws protect individuals and groups from all hate crimes and discrimination based on sexuality. There are gay clubs, bars, and businesses, so LGBT students will likely be able to find a community of friends, groups, organizations, and establishments in Paris. Resources:

- Centre Lesbien, Gai, Bi et Trans de Paris: <http://www.centrelgbtparis.org/>
- Paris (GlobalGayz.com): <http://www.globalgayz.com/europe-paris-1/475/>

High Financial Need

France has a large social welfare system and less economic inequality than the United States, but there has been a growing gap separating the wealthiest French citizens from the rest of the population. According to a December 2017 Eurobarometer, 85 percent of French citizens believe that differences in people’s incomes are too great. These growing inequalities – and limitations in government policy – have sparked debate and protest.

The cost of living in Paris is higher than in Evanston. In general, you may find that the price of items is similar to what you would experience in the United States, but in Euros instead of dollars. This means that every item you purchase will be about 15-20% more expensive, given the currency conversion.

The student budget sheets in Appendix II reflect average out-of-pocket costs experienced by past students, but these totals can be challenging to manage over the course of the semester-length program. All students, but especially students with high financial need, are encouraged to keep a weekly and monthly budget to track their spending. Refer to the Budgeting & Planning section of the GLO website for more information: <https://www.northwestern.edu/abroad/money-matters/budgeting-planning/index.html>.

Budgeting & Finances: Reflections from Past Students

- “I think that budgeting was the most challenging part of the abroad experience. I was able to lower my costs by keeping a very detailed ledger and adjusting my spending accordingly each month. I also ended up buying groceries occasionally to keep breakfast and lunch costs down.”
- “You will spend more than you think! Everyone that I talked to spent much more than they expected, especially the first month. Make sure you have everything sorted with your bank before you arrive so you can avoid unwanted charges.”
- “[I wish I had known h]ow easy it is to spend money! I greatly exceeded what I had thought was a reasonable budget beforehand. Of course, much of that is my own poor planning, but it is much easier to spend money than I thought!”

Students with high financial need may find that the French people that they meet assume that they are wealthy, because they are from the United States. They may also experience pressure from their friends and other exchange students to travel often. Some students may be able to afford to travel outside of Paris multiple times, but many will not. Like you do with your daily living expenses, you are encouraged to set a travel budget, if you plan to travel, and stick to this. Also seek out free and low-cost options in and around Paris. There are many discounted activities for students!

Religion and Spirituality

The majority of French citizens identify as Roman Catholic, but many are agnostic, and many practice other religions, including Protestantism, Judaism, and Islam. A number of places to worship exist in Paris, so students wishing to attend church, mosque, or synagogue services will have easy access to do so. Religion is an important – and in some cases, contentious – issue in France, so students may experience intellectual discussion and debates around religion and religious freedoms, among other political and cultural issues. Resource:

- Places of Worship in Paris: <http://en.parisinfo.com/what-to-see-in-paris/place-of-worship>

Health, Safety, and Security

The sections below provide information about health and safety risks and resources in France, including reflections from past students. Refer back to the Health & Safety section of the GLO website and the modules in Canvas for more information about preparing for and responding to health, safety, and security concerns.

Staying Healthy

In its 2000 assessment of world health care systems, the World Health Organization found that France provided “the best overall health care” in the world. Private hospitals and medical staff are of an international standard, and all large centers have full specialist care with providers who speak English.

Food and water are safe in most locations, but you should always wash your hands with soap or use an alcohol-based hand sanitizer before eating. If you are traveling out of Western Europe, be sure to do some research on food and water safety before you go.

Safety and Security

In addition to the Travel Safety information outlined on the Global Learning and Global Safety and Security websites, you are advised to follow the precautions below during your time in France.

- Refer to the U.S. Department of State Country Information Sheet for safety and security guidelines: <https://travel.state.gov/content/travel/en/international-travel/International-Travel-Country-Information-Pages/France.html>
- Petty crime is common at airports, on public transportation, and in tourist locations. Be vigilant, and care for your belongings.
- Crimes of opportunity are more likely to become violent: 1) on the street late at night, and/or 2) when the victim resists. If you are confronted, COOPERATE! Give the criminal what they ask for. Concentrate on remembering a description, which you can provide to the police.
- France has been the target of several high-profile terror attacks, so French and European governments have been taking action to guard against terrorist threats. Students should keep their phones on, charged, and loaded with airtime, so that they are reachable in case of emergency. Students are also advised to avoid large crowds or crowded places when possible and to exercise particular caution. In the event of heightened threat, students should return to (or remain at) a safe location, such as Paris 3 or their accommodations, until further notice.
- Civil protest in France over various social issues (salaries, retirement, human rights, etc.) is quite common, and this typically takes the form of peaceful demonstrations. As a reminder, students are not permitted to participate in—or attend—any kind of public demonstration. In the event of severe civil unrest, students should return to (or remain at) Paris 3 or in their homes, avoid the demonstration route, and stay there until the situation stabilizes. On-site administrators will contact students with information about demonstration routes, dates, and times.
- Women should exercise extra caution. While the incidence of sexual assault is statistically low, attacks, harassment, and other forms of sexual violence do occur.

- Refer to the Paris Police Prefecture pamphlet in English, which offers practical advice and useful telephone numbers for visitors.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

Packing

Is there anything special that I need to pack for my program?

Past students have recommended bringing good walking shoes and boots, as walking will be the primary method of transportation in Paris.

Food & Water

Can I drink the water?

Yes. Tap water is very safe in France. Do not be shy in asking for water at restaurants if you are not immediately offered this. Bottled water in restaurants can be expensive, and it is typical to ask for tap water (“une carafe d’eau”).

What is typical food?

French cuisine is considered one of the best in the world. Each region prides itself on a specialty, so take some time to explore all of the different kinds of food that are considered “French.” In general, the food that is eaten in restaurants can be very different from the food that is eaten in French homes. Paris furthermore, is an international city. It might be a little difficult to track down your favorite ethnic cuisine, but there are several neighborhoods that specialize in certain kinds of world foods.

Is the local cuisine vegetarian friendly?

French cuisine is not inherently vegetarian-friendly, but Paris is a metropolitan city and becoming more and more aware of the needs of vegetarians!

Money

How much does the program cost?

See Appendix II or refer to the program website for a breakdown of program costs.

Are meals included in my Program Fee?

No. All room and board costs are out-of-pocket costs for students. Only tuition, orientation expenses (if applicable), and GeoBlue travel health insurance are included in the program fee billed by Northwestern.

How much money should I plan to spend?

Refer to the student budget in Appendix II for an estimate of costs for room and board, books, local transportation, and personal expenses. The figures included in the budget represent averages reported by past students spent over the entire duration of the program.

Be aware that your student budget does not include personal travel, and traveling can quickly add up. Travel costs will depend upon the nature of your trips, but weekend trips will likely cost no less than 150 euros.

How much cash should I bring?

For safety reasons, you are advised to bring no more than $200 cash with you, plus a credit card and an ATM or debit card to use for purchases and to access additional funds. It is also recommended that you bring a second credit card in case of emergency. If you choose to bring more U.S. dollars, be sure to pack safely and monitor your belongings while traveling.

Communications

How do I get a cell phone that works in France?

In Paris, the vast majority of students opt to get a plan through Free Mobile:

<http://mobile.free.fr/>. Free Mobile tends to offer the best rates for students and other short-term visitors to France. There is a Free Mobile store in Paris. There are three primary cell phone providers in France, each of which has its own offers: Orange, SFR, and Bouygues. You should still review your options and make decisions based on how you intend to use your phone for calling, texting, and data.

As a reminder, if you intend to use your U.S. smartphone with a French SIM card, you have to make sure that your phone is unlocked. Contact your U.S. cell phone provider for more details. Contact previous students for tips on cell phone purchase and use. Also refer to information on the GLO website: <https://www.northwestern.edu/abroad/study-abroad/prepare-and-go/communication.html>.

Transportation & Travel

Will I be picked up from the airport?

No. You will need to arrange your own transportation from the airport to your accommodations.

How will I get back to the airport for departure?

You will be responsible for getting to the airport for your return flight.

How much free time do I have? What can I expect to do outside of class?

This is up to you and how you organize your class schedule. There are a wide variety of places for you to explore in and around Paris. Contact the Ambassadors for your program to get suggestions for things to do in your spare time:

Appendix I: Language Tips & Useful Phrases

When you walk into a store or restaurant, always greet the employees or owner. When you leave, say thank you and goodbye. You will quickly observe that all the French customers do this as a sign of courtesy and respect. Simply saying “bonjour” goes a long way in France, even when getting on a bus or asking for directions. Not saying hello can ensure poor service!

Below are some useful phrases for communicating and getting around while in Paris.

English	French
Hello	Bonjour or salut (more informal)
Goodbye	Au revoir
Good evening	Bonsoir
Yes	Oui
No	Non
Please	S'il vous plaît or S'il te plaît (more informal)
Thank you	Merci
Excuse me	Excusez-moi, or pardon
I'm sorry	Désolé
How are you?	Comment allez-vous? Comment ça va?
Where is...?	Où est...?
What?	Comment?
My name is	Je m'appelle
I would like	Je voudrais
Could you please take a picture of us?	S'il vous plaît, pouvez-vous nous prendre une photo?
Could you please take a picture of me?	S'il vous plaît, pouvez-vous me prendre une photo?
Where is the bathroom?	S'il vous plaît, où sont les toilettes?
Can I please get the check?	L'addition s'il vous plaît?
How much is it?	Ça coûte combien, s'il vous plaît?
Can you help me?	Pouvez-vous m'aider?
Do you speak English?	Parlez-vous anglais?
I do not speak French	Je ne parle pas français
I do not understand	Je ne comprends pas
