Intentional Community

Please join us for our Spring series, focused on building Intentional Community. Through four sessions, we’ll learn about building community by moving from small talk to big talk, integrating a practice called Dialogue Circles to help us get there. Jumping off points for discussion will include questions and ideas connected to Black History Month and Women’s History month, as well as topics you generate along the way. Join us once a month to step into a safe space, an open dialogue and a feeling of connection to others in the Northwestern community.
