REGISTER TODAY
A dynamic, interactive program equipping you with knowledge, resources and relationships to support continued success managing a team and leading the University. By the end of this program, you will:

- Understand what skills are required for team management and have increased confidence in your ability to fulfill all aspects of the role
- Have increased awareness of your leadership style
- Better understand team member individual styles, motivations and interests
- Know how to access Northwestern resources for the employee lifecycle
- Have accessed “key” necessary systems and found training
- Have new relationships with manager peers and mentors

Who is this program for?

This program is for anyone at Northwestern with formal management responsibility. The primary audience are those who:

- Are new to their management role in the past 0-2 years
- Manage 2 or more direct reports
- Are staff

We also accept those who are more experienced, are faculty who manage staff, and/or who have one direct report.

Cost

This program is co-funded by the WELL team and individual departments at a cost of $200 per participant in FY22. For more information, contact workplace-learning@northwestern.edu

What to expect

This program includes approximately 30 hours of active learning over 10 weeks. This is comprised of live sessions, on-demand videos and reading, and small group work. The program is offered this year in two formats and three cohorts to accommodate learning preferences, schedules and locations.
